Field of the Invention The present invention relates to a semiconductor device and a method for manufacturing the semiconductor device. More particularly, the invention relates to a semiconductor device having a trench gate structure and a method for manufacturing the semiconductor device. 2. Description of the Background Art In recent years, with progress in fine patterning techniques of semiconductor devices, a gate length has been reduced, so that a conventional planar gate electrode is approaching its limit. Thus, in order to solve this problem, a gate electrode having a three-dimensional structure has been developed. A trench gate structure is known as a gate electrode structure having such a three-dimensional structure. The conventional trench gate structure is a thin film gate electrode structure formed to fill a trench having a wall surface with a dielectric layer interposed therebetween, and is structurally different from a stacked gate structure having an LDD (Lightly Doped Drain) structure having a drain region and a lightly doped drain region (hereinafter also referred to as
